STANDING BY...

Seems to be our position right now. The cyber attack has really slowed everything down right now. So much of our work involves following developments at City Hall. Most specifically, City Hall. The City Planning Commission will almost certainly be dealing with an influx of applications. It is our hope that the agenda doesn't get so large that it is voted on without careful deliberation. This seems to be very important to us, as there is talk of major developments happening on our major corridors (St. Claude and Elysian Fields). With talks of possible hotels at the "Beauty Zone" at St. Claude and Elysian Fields, and at the "Trash Palace" at Chartres and Elysian Fields, as well as actual housing at the Frankie and Johnny's on St. Claude, there is a possibility for precedent setting projects. Let's just hope they don't happen so fast that we don't have a chance to consider them properly.

A NEW MARDI GRAS TRADITION

Mardi Gras means many things throughout the city. For those along St. Charles, it means floats and the large pa-

Information on Share the Road

Streets that include bike lanes, sidewalks, crosswalks improve everyone's health by making it easier and safer to be active. To improve our health and safety, we need streets built to share with vehicles and bicycles in every neighborhood said the American Heart Association. The conflict between bicyclists and vehicles is ongoing, however; it is important to remember that the person on the bike is human and from all walks of life. Bicyclists can legally ride on the roadway. The shared-lane pavement marking or "sharrow" tells bicyclists where to safely ride and alerts motorists where to expect bicycles. Sometime there are signs that indicate for vehicles and bikes to share the road. The law states when passing, drivers must maintain a 3-foot distance from bicyclists.

These are tips for sharing the streets with bicycles

- Allow plenty of room when passing a bicyclist
- Pass only when safe to do so
- If there is no room to pass safely, then your only option is to follow them at a safe distance until it is safe to pass
- Do not tap your horn, it may startle a bicyclist
- Watch for children on bicycles; some children are not aware of all the traffic laws and are often inexperienced riders

- When making a right turn, be sure there is no bicyclist near you on the right side of the road
- Be observant when backing out of your driveway or an alley
- Drivers must yield right of way to cyclists whenever making a right with the cyclists

Look behind you and to the side for bicyclists before you open a car door and develop the habit of reaching across your body and opening your door with the opposite hand. Bicyclists often can not see a driver who is about to open a door and usually a driver can detect a bicyclist if they are looking.

Not all markings on the streets are well defined, so use common sense and always be courteous and drive responsibly so that you do not cause increase danger or harm to people riding bikes.

 rades. For those in our neighborhood, it means the walking parades like Krewe du Vieux, 'tit Rex, Chewbacchus, Krewe du Lusion and Boheme. But there is a new tradition that you won't find on your parade tracker. In 2017, the school at St. Paul sadly closed. After sitting vacant for a year, the Roots of Music moved in, giving them their first permanent home. It was amazing luck for us that those classrooms were filled after only one year. Now, it is not unusual for neighbors to hear the sound of a marching band and not have to ask what it is. We have become accustomed to walking outside and catching the practice parade from these magnificent kids. I would like to thank the Roots of Music for the wonderful opportunity they provide for these children, and also for letting us be blessed with these "pop up" parades that come in front of our house.

Public Safety Report

2-12-2020 5th District New Orleans Neighbors & Police Anti-Crime Council (NONPACC). There will be no 1 p.m. MAX Meetings during or on Mardi Gras, Tuesday, Feb. 18 or 25

Due to the season, attendance was sparse, 4 Officers and 4 Citizens.

Captain Frank Young opened the meeting at 6 p.m.

Yearly Wrap-Up: New Orleans' murder count in 2019 was as its lowest since 1971, and marked the third straight year murders dropped. In 1994, the count peaked at 424. Captain Young recommended a well-researched WDSU story: <https://www.wdsu.com/article/new-orleans-murders-in-2019-what-the-data-tells-us/30899265/>

Questions were asked about the last-minute refusal of a permit for the Krewe du Vieux Dieux (Ball) which was supposed to be held after the parade in a warehouse at 2900 Dauphine, next to Muralist B Mike's studio, just over the tracks in Bywater. The truth is that after four years of almost weekly non-permitted events in both spaces, often with stadium-sized speakers, generators, and portable a.c. units facing the small houses on the residential side of Montegut Street, as well as an NBA-sanctioned All Star weekend of events with portable basketball court floors and busloads of children, the State Fire Marshall determined the space had not been upgraded enough to hold a public event.

On February 10, an attempted carjacking took place at Spain and Royal, and was captured by a "Ring" doorbell security camera about 7 p.m. A woman was surprised by two juveniles armed with a knife, while exiting her car. The juveniles were traced and charged.

On February 1, The Times-Picayune/Advocate featured a story, "NOPD arrests five in vehicle burglaries." There were also 13 firearms seized, with the arrests made on the 1500 block of Clouet, capping an investigation which had begun near Lakeview in the 3rd District, included a saga involving a shooting on the Westbank and a car found by tracking device, in the 5th District. The Captain said our area has been "the low end of the spectrum," for this extended rash of vehicle break-ins. Police Superintendent Shawn Williams repeats, "If you see something, say something."

Due to deadline constraints, a wrap-up of the Bacchus Sunday "Feed the 5th," will be in next month's issue.
